COMPRESSION SERIES

Based on Compression theory and Kinesio Taping technique, Aropec has developed a series of sports functional garment. In early days, compression suits were applied to medical recovery use, and now by applying the garment to athletes, they can reach better performance by gradient and precise pressure on muscles, muscle stability, and improvement of blood circulation.

WETSUIT Aropec triathlon wetsuit characteristics and design differences:

Boost Up Swimming Speed

- Smooth Skin slick surface, mostly applied with super stretchy skin neoprene, which is the main characteristic of Triathlon Wetsuit. Its major function is to decrease water resistance and makes the swimming speed much faster.
- The density of Skin Neoprene for Triathlon Wetsuit is lower than ordinary (water sports) wetsuits. It has more buoyancy due to lower density and lighter in weight, therefore easier to float on water and makes the swimming speed much faster.
- Triathlon is a high performance sports which needs to be based on biodynamics to distribute different thickness neoprene on different parts of wetsuit. It improves athlete's performance.
- 3D superior super stretch skin on arms and armpits that maximize the movement freedom and make the swimming speed much faster.
- Equipped with special embossed draining water channels on front chest and leg for water flow diversion.
- Some Aropec Triathlon Wetsuits are equipped with special embossed draining water channels or special printing on front chest for water flow diversion to make the swimming speed much faster.
- Some Aropec Triathlon Wetsuits are equipped with embossed skin neoprene or special printing on elbow to increase water for arm stroke and makes the swimming speed much quicker.
- Some Aropec Triathlon Wetsuits use 3D superior super stretch Skin Neoprene on arms, armpits, neck, body sides, back, back waist, popliteal and calf. It can maximize the movements of the limbs and body, which also increases the comfortability.

Faster Wearing and Taking Off

- Aropec wording logo is printed on the inner side of waist part, indicating the standard line for wearing and taking off Triathlon Wetsuit. Speeding up wearing and taking off helps shorten the competition time.
- Some Aropec Triathlon Wetsuits are equipped with "Open Top Zipper" on the top of back. When you finish swimming, just keep pulling up the webbing of Open Top Zipper, the zipper teeth will release & open itself automatically. It makes taking off the wetsuit much faster than others.
- Zipper flapper (printed with white base) can be used as name tag. You can write your name on it to avoid mixing up with others' suits or being taken by accident.
- Aropec Triathlon Wetsuit is packaged in box with professional instruction (box is optional). It is convenient for your commercial delivery purpose or suitable as a private gift.
